Course summary

You'll start this course by building your vocabulary with language to use whilst shopping, such as items of clothing, colours, and how to ask for help. Then, in Week 2, you'll learn how to talk about television programmes and statistics. The course will give you opportunity to practise expressing preferences, asking for and giving permission and apologising. You'll also learn how to use separable verbs.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- understand German vocabulary for items of clothing and colours
- express preferences, ask for and give permission, and apologise
- talk about television programmes
- use separable verbs in the present tense.

Completed study
